Steel Talks Will Enter Third Day

No Reported Progress By Either Side

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—A second day of management-union talks aimed at settling the nationwide steel strike which started Monday ended tonight without any reported progress, but the two sides agreed to meet again tomorrow.

There was no official confirmation of reliable reports that the industry had made a new wage offer, or was about to, to the CIO Steelworkers union headed by Philip Murray. "We met at one, and it is now one minute after 6," Murray said as the session recessed. "We are scheduled to meet tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. (8 a.m. CST). We have nothing further to say."

He made the comment, he said, on behalf of all six negotiators—three from management and three from the union.

John A. Stephens, a vice president of U. S. Steel and one of the industry's negotiators in the peace talks, was asked to comment on reports that the industry has made a wage-and-fringe benefit offer amounting to 20 cents an hour for each worker. Stephens hesitated, then simply repeated what Murray had already said. He made no effort to deny the report.

Presidential assistant John R. Steelman took no part in today's bargaining session. He was there, however, when the talks recessed.

None of the union or industry officials would say one word about the progress of today's session. Some observers, however, were cautiously optimistic in view of the fact the talks were continuing.

Face Grave Situation
Secretary of Defense Lovett told a news conference, meanwhile, that the defense department is faced with a "very grave situation" and that it is asking its weapons contractors to shift certain critical items, which he did not name, to non-struck plants.

Meanwhile, the National Production Authority (NPA) drafted an order to channel steel deliveries from these operating mills to important military contractors. Its actual issuance was held up, however, because of reports that some progress was being made in the White House talks.

If the dispute is not settled by Sunday, NPA probably will issue the order then. The non-struck mills produce only about nine per cent of the nation's vital steel output, and much of their production is not suited to weapons manufacture.

Hands Off By Truman
President Truman, meanwhile, was said to be determined to keep hands off the whole dispute for the time being at least while the industry and union continue their peace talks, which started up again yesterday.

The walkout by an estimated 650,000 steelworkers got under Monday a few minutes after the supreme court ruled Truman's seizure of the mills unconstitutional.

Each day of work stoppage means the loss of close to 250,000 tons of ingot steel a day. The army was said today to be increasingly concerned over the impact the strike may have on its tank production program.

The union has consistently demanded a wage-and-fringe package which would total 26 cents-an-hour for each worker by next January—plus a union shop.

The industry has said the 26 cents would add $12 a ton to the cost of making steel, now selling for around $110. The government has never publicly offered a price increase higher than $4.50 a ton. The industry has repeatedly stated, too, it cannot accept the union shop under which all workers must pay dues.

Soviets Call For Rearming Of E. Germany

Berlin, June 6 —(AP)—The Red scare campaign against West Germany's alliance with the free world whipped to new fervor today with Communist calls for East Germany to rearm at top speed and for overthrow of the Bonn government.

Communist boss Walter Ulbricht—Moscow's most trusted German agent—declared in a speech to Soviet zone railway workers in East Berlin that "armed defense of our homeland must be organized" to block the West's "enslavement of all Germany."

The aim obviously was to scare East Germans into believing they must prepare to fight against being swallowed up by "the great landowners, the magnates and the bankers" and frightening West Germany out of finally ratifying her complex of treaties with the western allies.

Russia, meanwhile, handed Britain a $4,653,881 bill for the use of long-distance telephone lines between isolated Berlin and the west during the past seven years. The United States was billed yesterday. Together the bills total $18,507,441. France uses the American lines and so was not involved. The bills, submitted in behalf of the East German government, properly come under occupation costs for which the German taxpayers are responsible. Allied officials indicated they would reject the bills, even at the risk of a cable cut. They already have set up radio telephone systems in anticipation of such a measure.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German cabinet approved instruments of ratification of the six-nation European army treaty to include German troops in the western defense buildup, and of a reciprocal aid pact between Bonn and Britain.

The Russian-backed Red police continued clearing out villages along Soviet zone borders with the west to create a broad no-man's-land security strip around East Germany.

However, the Russians relaxed their pressure at two points on the border between the U.S. sector of Berlin and the Soviet zone. At American insistence, the Russians reopened the roads from the tiny suburb of Steinstuecken to permit postal and food deliveries to pass through from the American sector.

They also withdrew their sentries from the American sector shore of Griebnitz lake. The sentries had been permitted to stand inside the U.S. sector at that point for seven years to guard Russian-requisitioned houses across the lake.

Potato Prices Rise, Predict Drop As New Crop Comes In

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—Wholesale prices of potatoes shot up today, in at least one instance to double that of yesterday, following removal of price ceilings by the government.

Generally the increases ranged roughly between 30 and 50 per cent. Brisk bidding was reported for the still scarce supplies which reached wholesale markets.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), which had frozen white potato prices in mid-January, removed ceilings late yesterday after the Senate had voted a day earlier to take all price controls off fresh fruits and vegetables. The House had not yet acted.

Trade sources and some government officials had forecast a price rise, but predicted that levels will drop again late this month and in July, when the 1952 crop will begin coming to market in considerable volume.

The predicted price jump materialized, and in some cases it was bigger than had been generally anticipated.

In Chicago, there were sales as high as $9.50 for 100 pounds, the highest prices since 1925. In 1919, however, potatoes were sold for as much as $20 for 100 pounds.

Recover Fourth Body From Mich. Gravel Pit

Hastings, Mich., June 6 —(AP)—The body of the fourth victim claimed by a rumbling cave-in in an 80-foot deep gravel pit here was recovered today—more than 24 hours after the accident.

The body was that of Roy Steenbeck, 26, whose father, Henry, 58, and brother, Vernon, 30, also were buried alive and perished. The other victim was Edward Lewis, of Middleton, a hired man.

The pit is located on the farm of the elder Steenbeck. Positions of the bodies indicated the men were fleeing a collapse of the north wall, when the south wall also gave way, burying them as they ran.

Authorities assumed the quartet was preparing to set a dynamite charge or otherwise preparing to loosen gravel from the base of the high north wall when the avalanche struck another landslide in the deep pit, authorities permitted only three rescue diggers in it at a time. To each was tied a lifeline manned by three to four men above the rim.

Russian Ambassador Formerly Of Canada To Be Sent To U. S.

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—Russia has recalled its ambassador to the United States, Alexander S. Panyushkin, and has named Georgi Zarubin, former ambassador to Canada and Britain, to replace him. This surprise diplomatic shift put the State Department on the spot, for this reason: Zarubin was Soviet ambassador to

Calls Note Linking McGrath, Boyle In War Deals, Untrue

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—A former assistant U. S. attorney told House investigators today a note he had written linking the names of former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath and former Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle with a war contracts case was fictitious.

George F. Petzer testified he had written the note after coming in at 4 a.m. from a party. He said he had had "a few drinks."

The note was left in a Washington hotel room last year for Walter Sprague, a government auditor who had been working on a case for recovery of $25,000 in alleged overcharges from the Advance Plating company of Detroit.

Sprague testified that Petzer wrote that Bernard M. Bauer, president of the company, had just conferred with McGrath and Boyle in Bauer's Washington hotel suite. Some months later, Sprague told the House judiciary committee, justice department proceedings against Advance Plating apparently were dropped.

Bauer followed Sprague to the witness chair to deny that he ever saw McGrath or Boyle when he was in Washington.

And Petzer, now practicing law in Detroit, testified the reference to the two men was not true.

The subcommittee did not question Petzer about why he wrote the note. But in talking to newsmen, Daniel G. Kennedy, the subcommittee's associate counsel, implied that Petzer's reason may have been to impress Sprague.

The subcommittee recessed with no plans to pursue the matter further.

Sprague also testified that Clark Clifford, former assistant to President Truman, received a substantial fee as attorney for the Michigan School of Trades Corp., which managed to settle a $1,313,358 government claim for $125,000.

George Peters, a later witness, acknowledged that he had paid Clifford the law firm "a little over $25,000." He explained he tried to retain Clifford as counsel on the theory that "anybody who was good enough to be the president's attorney was good enough for us."

The main purpose of the subcommittee's inquiry is to discover how the justice department has handled prosecutions in a wide variety of cases.

Frisco Prepares For Meet Of Newspaper Men

San Francisco, June 6 —(AP)—Factory men today were setting up exhibits of the latest equipment for fast newspaper production, to show a nationwide gathering of newspaper executives here next week.

More than 1,000 delegates are expected for the combined programs of the annual Mechanical Conference of the American Newspaper Publishers Association—held for the first time west of the Mississippi—and the Pacific Newspaper Mechanical Conference.

The three-day conference starts Monday, with Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post, delivering the keynote address on "production economies."

The program calls for discussions of newspaper mechanical production economies, plant maintenance, industrial relations and advertising production problems.

John W. Park, production executive of the Chicago Tribune, is a co-chairman of the Monday meeting. Another speaker will be Edwin H. Evers, vice president and production manager of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Cincinnati Paper Sold To Company For Employees

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—The Cincinnati Enquirer was sold today to the Portsmouth Steel corporation acting on behalf of a group of the newspaper's employees, for $7,600,000 cash.

The announcement was made by Daniel W. Bell, president of the American Security and Trust company, after the U. S. district court approved the offer.

Portsmouth Steel is a holding company in which Cyrus W. Eaton is active.

Lodge Rejects Taft's Texas Compromise

Farm Program Bill Passes In Senate

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—The Senate passed with a shout of approval tonight an annual farm appropriation bill assuring more than $1 billion dollars for government farm programs during the year beginning July 1.

The bulky measure now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate increases of more than 115 million dollars. Roughly the same amount of money voted for the current year.

Just before passage the Senate beat down 35 to 23 an effort to cut 100 million dollars from payments to farmers cooperating in soil conservation programs.

This left the total at 250 millions to be paid on next year's crops. Backers of the proposed cut said soil conservation was something a good farmer would do without any subsidy, and noted that some major farm organizations had recommended reducing or eliminating such payments.

Opponents of the reduction said the nation's greatness depends on the fertility of its soil, and the payments were an "investment in the future."

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture, and Sen. Douglas (D-IL) teamed up behind the attempted reduction. It would not have cut any money from the present bill, but would have reduced the amounts congress must vote next year.

Passage of the big bill was another victory for Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Russell in recent years has led a combine of farm state Democrats and Republicans favoring a generous annual farm bill.

The Senate measure now goes back to the House for action on scores of amendments, most of them increases.

Wiley Says Talk Of Air Power Strength, Reckless

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—Senator Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) told the Senate today that talk of American military strength based on air power alone has stirred fears that western Europe, if invaded, might be blasted into atomic ruins.

Wiley, who is ranking Republican on the Senate foreign relations committee, denounced such talk as "reckless."

Off the Senate floor, newsmen asked Wiley if his criticism was directed at Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) who has repeatedly scoffed at "land-minded" U. S. generals and called for a policy based on unbeatable air power.

Replying, Wiley said: "I don't answer anybody."

He said he voted for Taft in the Wisconsin primary, but declared he was not taking sides in the struggle between Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

He did say, however, that Eisenhower has recently "emphasized the necessity for maintaining the fabric of European unity."

"I am frank to say," Wiley continued, "that sometimes certain of us here in this country are guilty of contributing to and feeding the Russian propaganda mill."

Noting that the United States has already contributed six divisions toward the defense of western Europe, Wiley went on to say:

"There is a limit, of course, to our military land strength, as well as our unfortunately weak air strength. We cannot disperse it all over the world. But we can make, have made and will make our contribution to the effort to hold the line."

Aside from taking sharp issue with advocates of air power alone, Wiley keyed his speech to an appeal for a continued bi-partisan foreign policy.

Auto Gunmen Fire At 4 Motorists On State Highways

Decatur, Ill., June 6 —(AP)—Four motorists reported to police today they were targets on Illinois highways for a gun-wielding madman who quickly sped away in the opposite direction.

One of the four was hurt when the bullet aimed at his car shattered the windshield, showering glass upon the driver.

Today's attacks brought to eight the number of motorists who have been targets for the mysterious gunman of Illinois roads. Four similar shootings were reported during the Memorial Day holiday with one man injured.

BLIND OR CRIPPLED VETERANS ELIGIBLE FOR $1,600 FOR CAR

Washington, June 6 —(AP)—The Veterans Administration is now ready to help blinded or crippled veterans of World War II and Korea buy automobiles. It will grant each eligible man $1,600.

A law approving the grants was enacted Oct. 20, 1951 but not until last night, when President Truman signed a supplementary appropriation bill, did any money become available. It provides 25 million dollars for the cars.

The Veterans Administration had approved 6,287 applications as of April 30 this year. It said today 1,500 applications were still pending and estimated that another 7,800 veterans are eligible.

Ike In New York: Dewey Says State's Delegates For Ike

New York, June 6 —(AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower came home tonight after opening his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination in Abilene, Kas. His plane landed at 6:56 p.m. (CST) at LaGuardia Field.

A crowd of about 500 persons was on hand, some of them singing his unofficial campaign theme song, "I Like Ike."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, one of Eisenhower's strongest supporters, was one of the first to greet him. Dewey claims that all of New York's 96 delegates will vote for Eisenhower at the GOP national convention in Chicago.

Eisenhower's remarks today were not given in a formal press conference. He said he was just talking.

For that reason, he asked that most of his remarks be put off the record. He agreed to be quoted directly on two points.

One was that he would not be in the race for the GOP nomination except that "this is a terribly serious time."

The other was an amplification of what he stated in his formal speech at Abilene about the necessity for maintaining the two-party system in the United States. In that speech, Eisenhower declared that "one party has been in power too long."

This correspondent talked with Eisenhower in his SHAPE headquarters last November and came away with the impression he had not been wholly sold on the idea of running for the Republican nomination. Eisenhower confirmed that today.

Late in the fall he had a series of talks with political leaders. They pressed him hard, he said, arguing he might be able to bring about the same unity of diverse interests at home as he had done abroad.

He said he did not make up his mind until it became apparent that the whole series of agreements and commitments between the NATO nations, on which he had been working, was finally coming to a conclusion.

Ridgway On D-Day Tells Reds, War Will Destroy Them

St. Mere Eglise, France, June 6 —(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway declared in a D-Day anniversary speech today the West would suffer dreadfully if Communist chiefs started a new war, "but it would bring destruction to them and their power."

The supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, who parachuted behind Nazi lines in Normandy as commander of the 82nd Airborne division several hours ahead of the main invasion waves June 6, 1944, issued his warning to what he called "a new and more fearful totalitarianism."

Speaking at nearby Utah beach, Ridgway said:

"Let no one mistake this peaceful purpose," he said. "Let no one underestimate our resolve to live as freemen in our own territories, engaged in our peaceful pursuits. Above all, let no one mistake our patience, our tolerance, our constant quest for peaceful solutions at the council tables, as evidence of fear."

"We pledge ourselves anew—to these immortalized beaches—to our ancient and continuing ideals of human dignity, human decency and human brotherhood under God. We will gather the strength we have pledged to one another and set it before our people and our lands as a protective shield until reason backed by strength halts further aggression—until issues can be settled by negotiation, not by bomb and bayonet—until we can live in honored peace, free from organized terrorism."

Taft Wins 30 Indiana Delegates

Indianapolis, June 6 —(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio appeared tonight to have won 30 of Indiana's 32 delegates to the Republican national convention.

At the same time Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, national manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, rejected in Washington a suggestion made here by Taft to compromise the disputed Texas delegation to the Chicago presidential nominating convention.

Taft forces put together a slate of delegates to be acted on officially by district caucuses to-night and the state convention tomorrow which contained only one avowed supporter of Gen. Eisenhower.

He is publisher Eugene G. Pulliam of the Indianapolis Star and the Indianapolis News. He was unopposed in the eleventh district, along with William Hutcheson, former president of the AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters. Hutcheson has remained neutral in the presidential race.

Outside of these two, only Taft supporters complied with a party rule to file their candidacies and pay $500 each into the party treasury before a fixed afternoon deadline. The $500 fee helps pay costs of the state convention.

Edwin Steers Sr., treasurer of the state Republican committee, said state law requires such filing, he added that no candidate who had not met the requirements could run in district caucuses choosing 22 delegates or in the state convention, electing 10 at large tomorrow.

Some Eisenhower supporters insisted they didn't know of these requirements.

Rep. Charles Halleck, who was the state's favorite son candidate in 1948 before he swung to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, told a reporter he tried to put his money up before the deadline but found the door of the office of state GOP Chairman Cale J. Holden was locked.

Halleck, who has taken no part in this year's presidential contest, thus was left off the delegate slate.

Taft, who shook hands with 7,000 persons at a grueling three-hour reception here, told a news conference he would be willing to compromise on disputed southern delegations "where there is any serious difference on legal grounds."

He was asked specifically about the prospective contest over Texas' 38 vote delegation but wouldn't say whether he regarded an equal split as a fair basis of settlement. The state convention there picked a slate made up largely of Taft delegates. Eisenhower backers walked out and chose a rival delegation.

In Washington, Lodge said the Chicago convention itself will have to settle the Texas issue, commenting:

"It is never right to compromise with dishonesty. We are in the right both on the facts and on the law and enter into no deals which will disfranchise the Republicans of Texas. Earlier in Kansas City, Eisenhower was told of Taft's statement and commented:

"Gee, that sounds good." He did not elaborate.

Delegation Real Republicans
Taft of Lodge's statement, David S. Ingalls, Taft's national campaign manager, replied:

"The delegation chosen by the Republican state convention is made up of real Republicans and not the Democrats the other side wanted to put on."

"The law is on our side and our delegation will be seated. I am sure that justice will be done at the national convention."

Local Eisenhower leaders conceded that they were shut out on the slate, with the exception of Pulliam and possibly of Hutcheson.

Although Taft declined to comment generally on Eisenhower's homecoming news conference yesterday at Abilene, Kan., the Ohio senator said he was pleased to note the general had endorsed in principle a Feb. 6, 1950 statement of Republican policies.

"I had a lot to do with that statement," Taft said. "I drafted the paragraph on 'liberty against socialism' and I was pleased to note that General Eisenhower apparently approves that slogan."

Taft said he is "encouraged" about his chances for the party nomination, since Eisenhower's appearances at Abilene, Kan., the Ohio senator said he was pleased to note the general had endorsed in principle a Feb. 6, 1950 statement of Republican policies.

A PRACTICAL SUGGESTION

The recommendation of Passavant Aid Society that a subway be built to expedite and safeguard traffic to and from the new hospital is a practical idea, one that many citizens will agree should be carried out as quickly as possible. Like other public improvements which the majority agree are needed, a subway would require a considerable expenditure. Financial and legal details would necessitate study before a move is made to burrow under the Wabash.

For several years the suggestion of a subway or overpass on North Main street at the railroad has been before the city council periodically. The cost usually was pointed out as one of the retarding features. The safety and convenience of an underpass or overpass at North Main and the railroad on a street carrying traffic of state and federal routes is undisputed.

In adopting its resolution Passavant Aid Society did not attempt to designate a route from the main section of the city to the new hospital, located in the extreme northwest section of Jacksonville. Perhaps if the project moves forward, a different street would be considered for the subway. Several streets which intersect the Wabash right-of-way and extend north to Walnut street present possibilities.

Progress is born of action such as Passavant Aid Society took when it adopted the resolution. That was a starting point, the spark that eventually will lead to the building of a subway or overpass to serve the increased volume of traffic centered around the new hospital. The vision of the Society has fired a movement that otherwise might not have emerged from the dormant stage for several years.

REVIVING A LOST ART

Doris Ann Hall is the champion speller of the nation, having won the championship in competition with the best spellers in the country. The 13-year-old girl does not come from any of the great seats of learning. Her home is in the small town of Hudson N. C.

Such words as farraginous, vignette were easy for her. In fact the honor came to her when she correctly spelled cicerone, after the runner-up had missed it. Doris Ann won a big cup, $500 in cash and a weekend trip to New York City.

To a considerable extent spelling has become a lost art in the United States. Somewhere along the line orthography has been passed up in the education system, in favor of more obtuse subjects.

University graduates frequently enter the newspaper industry so deficient in the ability to spell they cause endless trouble for editors.

Now a 13-year-old girl from the North Carolina hills has come upon the scene to set an example for all. There should be a revival of interest in one of the fundamentals of education.

NO EVIDENCE

Government's attempt to name 136 members of the duPont family—including babes in arms—as co-conspirators against the anti-trust laws was so silly in its inception that it is not surprising it has come a cropper in the courts.

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy of Chicago has filed a memorandum with the court clerk holding there is no evidence the 136 acted as a class. How could there be when some of them are still too young to talk or write their names? Some, as a matter of fact, had not even been born when the original suit was filed in 1949.

If the government wants to go ahead, according to the judge it must attempt to prove its case against each member of the family individually. That would take some proving, considering the tender ages of many of the "conspirators."

Millions of Americans must have felt that way as they watched the startling contrast in Dwight D. Eisenhower's first two major television appearances as a political figure.

Everything conspired against Eisenhower in the delivery of his opening address, read from a prepared text in the rain to a drenched home-town Kansas throng. It was a visual aid, a picnic that failed to come off.

The bad lighting made him look years older and tired. He spoke vigorously, squinting at his text through heavy G. I. glasses. But there were no verbal bombs in his

The MATURE PARENT

Let's Not Sneer at Symbols

Children Use to Hide Anger

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

One night after Tad was asleep, his mother was hurriedly called to the bedside of a sick relative. A week later, after she returned, Tad awoke early one morning screaming from a nightmare. An animal he couldn't describe had been chasing him.

The next night, the animal was lying in wait for him at bedtime. Though his father told Tad to go to sleep like a "man" and a "soldier," Tad wouldn't. Three days later, distracted, his mother sought professional help.

"Tad resented your leaving him," she was told. "Children often hate us and this should never frighten us. It is because Tad is frightened at having hated you that he has had to disguise the hate in the form of the animal. The less frightened you are by his hate the quicker you can help him get rid of the animal. You must get him to tell you all about his anger with you until you and he can talk about it cozily together, your arms around him."

When Tad's father heard what the counselor had said, he lost his temper. "Bunk!" he snorted. "You go upstairs and turn his light out. I'm not going to have this modern nonsense in my house. You'll ruin the boy, encouraging him to spend all his time dreaming up spooks to be scared of."

Now Tad's father has some spooks of his own that he's scared of, too. He spends much of his waking life haunted by fear of his sales manager. He carries twice as much accident insurance as he can afford. He has a bad habit of arguing inaccurately over commissions. His friends are always having to say to him, "Take it easy, son; it hasn't happened yet."

It would be fine for Tad's father if he could bring himself to want lights on, instead of out. He needs a little light on the resentment of those who had to ask their bright, good-looking son to earn his own way through college.

He needs some light on what went on inside him one night long ago that he spent washing greasy dishes in his college commissary as music from the June day dance drifted through its open window. If he could only trust truth to work out love and compassion, he would lose fear of hate in himself or others.

He would rejoice to be able to expose the hidden, cruel thing, so that it could no longer keep him on the run, fearful, looking back for danger, looking ahead for it, expecting loss, expecting hurt, expecting punishment. It is not for nothing that the Greeks made their Furies the children of lightless Night and Darkness.

"Fear is often the manifestation of hate," writes Dr. Karl Menninger. There it is, out in the sunlight, in seven English words. Let's not be afraid.

Let us, too, stop sneering at the symbols by which children hide their anger at us. There's nothing new, nothing modern about the way conscience disguises guilt at bad feelings.

Few of us can afford to make merry with Tad's animal. He is kin to the damned spots on the hands of Lady Macbeth, to the apparitions of guilt that cried to Richard III of England, "Let me lie heavy on thy soul tomorrow." He is classic stuff.

We must go gently with children's guilt at hating us. Tad's is a baby soul, too new for guilt at hating his mother to sit heavily upon it. He is not yet a man, nor a brave soldier. He cannot digest hate and expel it without help.

Men Must Look Beyond Pretty Face for Home-Making Talent

A bachelor ("by choice"), who is just out of the Army, takes his pen in hand to low-rate what he calls the "average" American wife.

He has been visiting his brother and sister-in-law and apparently has decided that his brother's wife is typical of young American wives in general.

Here is his description of this one wife, which he seems to think fits all wives:

"She has an easy time of it, but thinks she has it tough. An electric washer does her washing for her, and yet she is forever complaining about how much laundry there is to do.

"She wastes an hour or two every morning gossiping over the telephone or at a neighbor's house.

"Then she rushes around to fix lunch for her school-age children, which is never anything but a cold sandwich and a glass of milk.

"After lunch she rushes off to play bridge or canasta all afternoon or to go to a meeting or a tea. If there is nothing to go to she takes a three-hour nap.

WIVES LIKE THIS EXIST, BUT AREN'T TYPICAL

"Then she throws together a slap-dash evening meal. The truth of the matter is that she doesn't do anything well. She just tries to get by with as little effort as possible. She actually doesn't even bother to use the right color of thread when she does condescend to darn a pair of socks for her husband.

"Why, I ask, should a man in his right mind spend the rest of his life supporting anyone as lazy as the average American wife?"

To begin with, the wife you describe isn't average or typical. She does exist, that's true. But no man has to be stupid enough to take her on as a life partner.

When a man marries a woman with no talent for home-making, with no inclination to be a full partner in marriage, with little interest in anyone outside herself, it is his own fault.

He hasn't bothered to look beyond a pretty face and nice figure to see if there is any brain or heart or understanding.

If he is gyped, then he has gyped himself. He has made a bad bargain because he doesn't think marriage is important enough to require the use of his brains.

So don't waste too much sympathy on your brother. If he had thought women were a little more important in the scheme of things he would have used his brains in selecting a life-time partner.

Night-Blindness Improved by Treatment Which Raises Blood's Vitamin A Content

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

A condition in which a person is unable to see well in dim light usually goes under the name of night-blindness.

Q—Please discuss night-blindness and what causes it. Are large doses of vitamin A of any merit? R. R.

A—It is known that night-blindness in many or all cases is closely associated with vitamin A in the body. For example, it is common in diabetes, probably because the body loses its ability to prepare vitamin A.

It is also related to other conditions in which the vitamin A content of the blood is lowered. For this reason, many people with night-blindness are improved by being given vitamin A, and of course, by treatment of diabetes or any other condition which may be found to be responsible.

Q—Please elaborate on a discussion of Hirschsprung's disease. What are its cause and treatment? Mrs. F.P.G.

A—This is a condition in which the lower bowel is greatly enlarged at birth. A child with this condition is usually stunted in growth, and the abdomen becomes enormous; sometimes months elapse between bowel movements. Numerous enemas or laxatives may be used in treatment, but in recent years various surgical procedures have come into favor.

Q—When my husband is sick, the doctor always tells him to drink ginger ale. Someone told me he must have a cancer as cancer patients are always told to do this.

A—This is certainly not true, since many people without any sign of cancer do drink ginger ale.

Q—I have a lump inside my cheek which I was told is a stone in the gland, and the doctor said it was the same as a stone in the kidney or bladder. I have never heard of such a thing.

A—It is perfectly true that stones similar to kidney or bladder stones can form in the salivary glands.

Q—What is your opinion as to the effectiveness of glutamic acid for the backward child? Mrs. D.B.

A—There have been a few technical reports which indicate that the use of glutamic acid may be able to improve the intelligence to some extent. This work, however, is in the stage of what is called experimentation, and cannot certainly as yet be recommended for general use.

Q—My young son was recently hit in one eye with a rock. The doctor says the retina was torn. Is there any type of operation? Mrs. M.T.M.

A—There is an operation for detachment of the retina, and the question as to whether it should be done on this young boy should be taken up with an expert at the earliest possible moment.

Q—There is a lady in our town who some 30 years ago had syphilis, and as a result lost the sight of one eye. This lady now comes to my house and eats off my dishes and uses my bathroom. Are the members of my family in any danger?

A—No, syphilis is not spread in this way.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 6—(P)—Now that he's yielded his amateur standing, Dwight D. Eisenhower knows how it feels to be in politics where they get you coming and going and you get blamed if you do and blamed if you don't.

Eisenhower made his first political speech this week and the words were hardly out of his mouth before he began to be criticized for not being more specific. His supporters, of course, praised him.

Yesterday he tried to be more specific by answering directly some of the questions pitched at him by more than 250 reporters at his first political news conference.

The retired general was asked where he stood on a compulsory G.P.C.C.-fair employment practices commission.

Eisenhower said: "I believe we can do more by leadership and by getting the states to do so than by making it a federal law or compulsory thing."

Almost at once Southern Democrats in congress, long angry at the Trumanites for urging FEPC, began to praise the general. One of them even said he was sorry Eisenhower wasn't on the Democratic side.

But the answer didn't satisfy the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which wants a federal FEPC law covering all states.

NAACP's executive secretary, Walter White, promptly wired Eisenhower:

"The failure of 37 of the states to take any affirmative action to assure equality of job opportunity points to the urgency of the need for federal action in this area."

"In view of this alarming failure, we urge you to reconsider today's statement in the light of your affirmation of 'unalterable support of fairness among all American citizens.'"

Eisenhower's position, if displeasing to the negroes, will cost him negro votes in the cities although capturing southern white votes.

Since this is only the start, Eisenhower will learn day by day the more you open your mouth, the more trouble you make for yourself. But if you're in politics, keeping it closed is no good either.

Ike 'Knows Too Much' to Suit Pentagon as Chief Executive

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Reaction in the Pentagon to the possibility of General Eisenhower becoming president and commander-in-chief of all U. S. forces ranges from lukewarm enthusiasm to violent opposition.

Only in a few of the high places there do you find genuine support for Ike's candidacy.

At first glance this seems strange. You'd think that the brass would be delighted to see one of the starred brotherhood make good and be handed the military purse strings. The very least you'd expect is rejoicing among the army brass.

The fact that there isn't wild enthusiasm for Ike for President among the generals and admirals seem to boil down to one phenomenon. And it's got nothing to do with Ike personally. It would be the same with any military man. They realize that Ike knows too much about their business and that the chances of pulling the wool over his eyes are pretty slim.

This feeling in the Pentagon about Ike as president is probably Ike's backers' most exploitable answer to the criticism that a military man shouldn't be president. A darn good case can be made for this being the perfect time for electing a president with a real military background.

The military boys have gotten their firm grip on this town since the war by hammering away at one argument whenever they are challenged on anything. They say to senators, congressmen and budget experts the same thing: "Who are you to question us on military matters? We're the military experts you've created and you've got to take our word for it."

MILITARY HAS SOLD TAXPAYERS EXPENSIVE TURKEYS

Fabulously expensive turkeys have already been sold to the American taxpayers on the basis of this argument. And the mistakes can always be covered up by slapping on security restrictions.

The Johnson Preparedness Committee has dug up enough dirt on the military on waste, corruption and poor planning to point up just how serious this problem is.

If the Pentagon brass had their way they'd keep President Truman in the White House forever. His military background as an artillery officer in World War I indoctrinated him with just the right amount of reverence for stars on the shoulder.

Reaction in high Army circles to Ike as president, is complicated. The so-called Eisenhower group is not in the saddle now. Many generals feel they'd be out of key posts if he became president. Others, now, feel they'd be in with Ike.

It's generally assumed that Ike would make his good friend and European aide, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, army chief of staff. It's actually the Gruenther, rather than the Eisenhower group, that hopes Ike gets the big job.

more pate, more, more. Yes, it was a party, where nothing but the best and lots of it was the rule.

Of course, few of the press can afford such delicacies as the Maison Glace offered. But we all do like parties, nevertheless.

Here are some appetizers we have at home for afternoon gatherings:

Softened cream cheese with fork and mix in gently. Spread on crisp crackers. Garnish with red caviar.

Eggs stuffed with shrimp: Prepare hard-cooked eggs as you would for deviled eggs, but add chopped cooked shrimp to the mashed yolk filling.

Celery stuffed with shrimp-cheese: Cut a cup cooked shrimp into small pieces. Mix with 1 package of cream cheese. Clean celery stalks crisp them in ice water, and fill the hollows with shrimp-cheese mixture.

Shrimp in pastry: Prepare 21-inch squares of thin pie dough. Roll them around whole-cooked shrimp. Bake in a moderately hot oven about five minutes.

Shrimp-butter appetizers: Chop 1 pound cooked shrimp (if space) into small pieces. Mix the shrimp with 1 pound softened butter, and blend well. Add salt and pepper to taste. Spread mixture on hot toast rounds and triangles just before serving. If you like, garnish each canape with a tiny piece of green pepper or pimiento.

SUNDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice scrambled eggs with chopped chives crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, grape jelly coffee, milk.

PARTY DINNER: Cream cheese and red caviar canapes, roast turkey rice and watercress, giblet gravy mashed potatoes, buttered corn and fresh frozen lima beans, Parker House rolls, butter or fortified margarine, celery and raw carrot sticks fresh strawberry sherbet, angel food cake, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Hot asparagus on buttered toast with cheese sauce sliced tomatoes, stewed fruit, sliced cake, tea, milk.

MISS PERFECT 36 VISITS JACKSONVILLE

Miss Shirley Gall of St. Joseph, Missouri, visited Jacksonville Thursday evening. The 19-year old girl is this year's Miss Perfect 36 and is in the midst of the annual tour from Indianapolis to Denver publicizing highway 36.

Miss 36 was escorted by local officials on a tour of the city soon after her arrival. She and her entourage stayed overnight at the Dunlap and departed for Hannibal, Missouri, Friday morning.

Miss Gall will be in her home town Monday to officially re-open the portion of highway 36 which was washed out by the Missouri river flood in April.

The Missouri Miss was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. G. Gall; Fred Batchner, secretary of the National Highway 36 Association and Gilbert Frankberger, his assistant.

Oh yes, the dimensions! Miss Gall is 5-4 tall, weighs 118. Her eyes are blue and her hair is light brown. She's a perfect 36.

Mrs. John Taylor Grand Regent Of C. D. Of A.

Mrs. John T. Taylor was installed June 5 as grand regent of Court Our Saviour, Catholic Daughters of America, in ceremonies at the Knights of Columbus club.

Mrs. John Coenen of this city, who serves as district deputy for courts in Springfield, Taylorville, Quincy, and Carrollton, substituted for Mrs. Fred Menne of Quincy, Court Our Saviour's authorized district deputy, in installing the following officers and Mrs. Taylor: vice-grand regent, Mrs. C. J. Longergan; prophetess, Mrs. Mildred Phalen; financial secretary, Miss Frances Gutmann; historian, Mrs. A. L. Yording; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Shanahan; monitor, Miss Dorothy Longergan; sentinel, Miss Mary Whalen; lecturer, Miss Resa Walsh; organist, Mrs. Alta Elsie; and trustees to serve three years, Mrs. Joseph T. Doyle and Mrs. Barney Lewis.

Mrs. Dennis Whalen, Franklin, president of the Jacksonville Deanery Council of Catholic Women, outlined plans for an institute for officers and chairmen to be held in Carrollton on Sunday, June 15. Mrs. Whalen urged a large attendance at the institute.

Final reports of the year's work were given by committee chairmen. Mrs. A. W. Becker, medical missions chairman, read letters of appreciation from priests who received boxes of clothing and religious articles for the poor from the local group.

Mrs. Taylor gave a brief report of the biennial state convention in Springfield which she attended as a delegate from Court Our Saviour. She also urged study of House Bill 7376 and Senate Bill 310 for which the National Council of Catholic Women urge active support. These identical bills are designed "to offer immediate American leadership in helping to solve the great human problem of Europe today by authorizing 300,000 special non-quota immigration visas," the first of which will be granted to those who have blood relatives already in this country. The Council contends that these bills will provide an affirmative response to daily Soviet propaganda.

Mrs. Louise Sullivan and Mrs. Helen Hayes, co-chairmen for the social meeting, were assisted by Bernice McNamara, Sally McManus, Maxine McManus, Florence Cowgurt, Kathleen Coenen, Margaret Brummett, Anna Baker, Elizabeth Sander, Marie Longergan, Ethel Quinlan, Lena Schirz, Teresa Longergan, Rosemary Ryan, Anne Ryan, Jennie Ryan, and Betty Lemons.

Cass Newspaper Woman Opposes Water Diversion

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Rep. Kluczynski (D-Ill.), predicted Thursday the House Public Works committee will approve increasing the flow of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway.

The committee completed a hearing on bills that would boost the diversion rate from 1,500 to 3,500 cubic feet a second.

Kluczynski, a committee member and backer of increased diversion, told reporters the group may act in a closed session tomorrow.

Rep. Sheehan (R-Ill.), sponsor of a bill identical to one introduced by Kluczynski, also expressed confidence the committee action will be favorable.

The supreme court set the 1,500 cubic feet a second rate in 1930. Ever since the Chicago sanitary district has battled for permission to take more water from the lake.

It contends the increased flow is needed to maintain a fair stream in the Illinois waterway, and to promote navigation.

Reps. Jonas (R-Ill.) and Church (R-Ill.) were the final witnesses favoring diversion. In opposition the committee heard Herbert H. Naujoks, counsel for the Great Lakes Harbor Association and Helen Schaeffer, co-owner of the Beardstown (Ill.) Illinoian-Star.

THE HOURS OF YOUTH

Time once loomed larger in your life than it does now. An hour once seemed "a real long time." That was when you were very young.

Today when you "spend" an hour either profitably or wastefully you are parting with only a tiny fraction of your life. But then, you were investing or squandering a large portion of your most important asset.

On this obvious truth rests the vital importance of childhood religious training. Faith and moral character grow most rapidly in the formative early years. And the beliefs and habits acquired in those "big" hours of our childhood are not easily crowded out by the multiplicity of worldly concerns which overflow our later days and years.

Every hour you devote to the religious training of your child, going to Church with him, reading Bible stories to him, sending him to Vacation Church School, helping him to live and work and play by the best code, will strengthen your own character—and mold his!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mission Society Hears Mrs. Hall Speak On India

Mrs. W. E. Hall, guest speaker for the Woman's Missionary society of Westminster church at their meeting Thursday afternoon, gave a most interesting discussion of the topic "India."

The meeting was held in the church parlors, with Mrs. E. A. Siefert and Mrs. H. J. Capps as hostesses.

Mrs. Hall began by giving a brief summary of recent political events in India, especially as concerns the separation of India and Pakistan and the resulting changes for the people of the country. By special request she told in particular of the work of her brother, the Rev. John Hyde, who was for twenty years a Presbyterian missionary in India, and in whose honor a memorial church was erected later.

She also spoke of outstanding features of mission work in India today, much of which is interdenominational and stressed the opportunity which America has today to help India in its development as a democracy.

Mrs. Lillian Scott was devotional leader and Miss Margaret Russell gave the names for the day for the Prayer Calendar.

During the business session, the resignation of the president, Mrs. Chester Fuson, was received and accepted with regret.

The hostesses served refreshments later, with Mrs. H. G. Servoss and Miss Louise Holmer serving at a table beautifully decorated with pink roses.

Somebody's Going to be Surprised!

Well, it's Junetime—and the top is down—and his heart is filled with memories . . . and where do you think he's going?

He's going halfway up the hill, to a spot where a lane strays into the wildwood and he can glimpse the top of a fieldstone chimney above the trees. That's his lane—and he's going home!

It has been a well-guarded secret. Just two people have known about it all these months—himself and his Cadillac dealer.

To make doubly sure, he has hinted at everything under the sun as a fitting tribute to this wedding anniversary—except a Cadillac!

Well, it won't be long now. He's getting closer and closer. And now the stones in the driveway crunch under the wheels . . . he gives the familiar three "toots" on the horn . . . and then she sees him, with his cap in his hand, bowing and pointing to the driver's seat.

Surprised? Never so much in all her life. And never more thrilled—for it's the "car of cars" for the "day of days"!

And is he happy?

Maybe it has taken him ten years—or fifteen—or even twenty . . . to make his dream come true.

But during all this time he never wavered in what he wanted. He wanted to make one anniversary mean something special above all the rest . . . by the gift of a Cadillac.

Perhaps, as you read this, you are looking forward to some very special anniversary of your own.

If you are—and you're planning on giving the gift of gifts—then you'd better come in and see us soon.

We've kept many and many a secret, for many and many a man—so you may trust us not to tell!

We'd be delighted to see you . . . at any time you find convenient.

House Of Clay Nine Beats Murrayville 9-7

Former Red Sox Pace Tiger's 4-2 Victory

Boston, June 6.—(P)—Ex-Bostonians Walt Dropo and Don Lenhardt made the Detroit end of this week's million-dollar deal look good tonight as they knocked in all the Tiger runs each belting his eighth homer of the year in a 4-2 verdict over the Boston Red Sox. It was the first encounter between the clubs since their nine-man swap.

Big Dropo enjoyed a spectacular return to his former Fenway Park haunts by turning a perfect night at the plate, including a homer into the left field nets in his first at-bat here in Detroit flannels. Besides that second-inning sock, he was walked twice—once purposefully—and doubled home Fred Hatfield, another ex-Red Soxer, in the eighth.

Lenhardt drew cheers from a goodly gathering of 30,808 when he blasted a Bill Henry pitch off the left field screen in the fourth, scoring Steve Souchock, who had doubled, ahead of him.

Last-Place Bucs Whip Sal Maglie In 8-1 Fracas

Pittsburgh, June 6.—(P)—The last place Pittsburgh Pirates solved pitcher Sal Maglie's magic tonight as they beat the New York Giants 8-1 and handed Maglie his second defeat against nine wins. Maglie had beaten the Pirates 13 consecutive games but he was lifted in the fifth for a pinch hitter after the Bucs had run up a 5-1 lead. The Giants' lone run off pitcher Murry Dickson was Bob Thompson's homer in the third.

The House of Clay used an eight run fourth inning to edge Murrayville 9-7 in the "A" league feature softball game at Nichols Park last night.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand for the game.

Highlight of the big inning was an inside the park home run by House of Clay third baseman Bradley.

Oliver was the winning pitcher. He allowed the winning Murrayville club 10 hits. Garner, who looked sharp when he whipped Lewis Elevator last Monday night, gave up 11 hits.

Samoores bumped the Merchants 12-2 in the "B" league contest. Beasley was the winning pitcher and Blesse twirled for the losers.

The Schlitz Hardware juniors whipped Gene's Sporting Goods 8-2 in the curtain-raiser.

Two out-of-town nines will invade Nichols Park Sunday night for a two-game program. Dixon's nine meets New Berlin at 7 p.m. while Lewis Elevator will repeat an invasion of the Litchfield Moose Nine.

Macomb Driver Claims Thriller At Fairgrounds

Earl Setser, lead-footed young driver from Macomb, won his second straight feature race of the season over his arch-rival Sonny Gross of Quincy to highlight the stock car program at the Morgan county fairgrounds last night.

Setser, who pilots a Jacksonville owned auto, nipped Gross by 20 feet to win the 40 lap feature on a track that was littered with wrecked cars.

The victory was Setser's second straight over Gross. He won the $500 100 lapper at Quincy Saturday night.

Five wrecked cars crowded the hazardous south turn of the fairgrounds oval while the winning cars zig-zagged through for the last five laps of the feature.

Sonny Roach of Jacksonville locked a wheel and couldn't get his car off the turn to start the show. Then two more Jacksonville cars became involved just a few feet away when Herb Glycy drove into Russ Cole's shiny 7-11. Don Lipcaman threw a wheel in the midst of the three cars and Bob Brown of Pittsfield smacked into Don to really mess things up.

But eight cars managed to finish the feature although Dave Knight of Jacksonville had to have a push on the last lap to finish the course and place eighth.

Jacksonville pilots are beginning to dominate the local races. Lipcaman won the second heat, Knight ran away with the third, and Bill Mills was the winner of the first semi-final race, and Bill Viera copped the "B" feature prize.

Eddie Pries of Quincy won the first heat and Junior Maddox of Ashland was the second semi victor to complete the program.

Women's Race Next Week
Forrest Powell announced last night that a women's race will highlight next week's races here. Seven women have entered. They are Lela Maddox, Wilma Smith, Marjorie Ramsey, Jean Rowland, Alberta Berry, Dorothy Wolke and Margie Lane.

The Summary:

Second heat—Don Lipcaman, Jacksonville; Don Hay, Beardstown; Russ Cole, Jacksonville; H. G. Covey, Jacksonville.

THIRD LEG.—The $100,000-added Belmont at one mile and a half fits the White Oak Stable's stretch-running Blue Man, inset, like a tailor-made suit. It's the third leg of the Triple Crown, the only one run at the true Derby distance, and attracts some 55,000 to Belmont Park. (NEA)

Eight Colts Tackle Belmont Stakes Today

BY JOHN CHANDLER

New York, June 6.—(P)—Eight finely tuned colts—the ones everybody expected all week—will tackle the 84th and richest Belmont stakes Saturday in a scramble for a record $120,500 pot.

Heading the list, of course, is the favored Blue Man from the White Oak stable of Arthur Warren Abbott, the Rye, N. Y., ice cream man. Odds-makers were making the Breakers winner the 4 to 5 choice.

Post-time is 2:45 p.m. (EST) with coast-to-coast television and radio (NBC) starting 15 minutes earlier. The race will be a mile and one half, once around Belmont's huge oval. The winner's share will be $84,400. That's $2,400 more than Counterpoint bagged a year ago when he won the Belmont in his campaign for the sophomore championship. The second horse gets $20,000, with $10,000 for third.

Armageddon, from the Cain Hoy stable of New York copper magnate Harry F. Guggenheim, and the Dixiana farm's Sub Fleet, owned by Charles T. Fisher, the Detroit Motors executive, appear to have the best chance if Blue Man is to get his lumps.

Others in the race are Mrs. Walter M. Jeffers' One Count, Isidor Bieck's King Jolie, William Woodward's Brian Stud Hope, Golden Gloves, Fred Hooper's English-bred Olympic, and Master Fiddle from the My-helm stable of Nicholas Martini and Meyer Mazor. All will have a 126 pound package.

Walt Tamblin of New Berlin and Glenn Willard of Griggsville are two Brown sub-scouts helping out with the two-day camp. Boys were selected in advance and invited to attend. There was no advance publicity.

Ron Kemp, another outstanding Jacksonville high school athlete, has positively decided to attend Western State college at Macomb next fall. Western is JHS athletic director Bob Kraushaar's alma mater.

Ron Campbell is another Crimmon who's flitting (or vice-versa) with Western. Williams is torn between attending college next fall and trying out for varsity athletics and signing a professional baseball contract, thereby cutting off his intercollegiate career.

Kenny Wright, another Crimmon baseballer, isn't even thinking about this problem. Kenny, a pitcher and infielder, is enrolled in the Washington Senator school which starts at Springfield on June 15. He'll sign in a minute if offered a contract. That's how much this kid loves the game.

Invitations are being mailed to softball teams in this area to compete in the fifth annual West Central softball tournament to be conducted at Nichols Park Sunday to Sunday, June 22-29. The first 16 teams who accept invites to the tourney will be accepted. So managers, let's hear from you!

The 38-year-old champ, oldest ever to wear the crown, stoutly defends as his correct age the announced 38. He was annoyed that it should be questioned.

Informing that Charles' camp complained about the work of Referee Zach Clayton, Walcott spoke up sharply.

"Are they squawking about the eight low punches he hit me?" he asked. "How about the times he stuck his thumbs in my face? They should be applauding the referee. All he did was warn, warn, warn. Never took away a round for all those low blows."

"So he says that cut in his eye came from a butt? Sure it was a butt with my left hand. I'm not saying he (Charles) is a bad guy. He just does some bad things."

Walcott thought he won nine or 10 rounds. Bocchicchio scored it 8-7. He was not concerned about the wide variance of ringside votes. A slim majority of newsmen had Charles out front, despite three official votes for the champ.

Charles, preparing to return to Cincinnati tonight, planned a new campaign to take him to the top. He probably will be sidelined a month with his eye cuts.

"I'm ready to take them all," said Charles. "Marciano, Matthews, Coley Wallace, Roland La Starza. Anybody that thinks they stand in the way of me getting back to the top."

"We have an exclusive contract agreement with the IBC," said Bocchicchio. "It ran for five years starting in 1949, when we fought Charles at Chicago, has two years to go. They have the right to ask you to defend twice and guarantee you $5,000 a year as an equity."

"My attorney tells me there never was a contract that couldn't be broken if you can show a man's opportunity to earn money is damaged."

"I'm not interested in going to court. I've got no hostility to the IBC or anybody else. But we're interested in money. We've earned about a million dollars in seven years but good will is all we've got to show for it. Even as champion we had to take a 30-30 split."

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

Bill Williams survived the first cut of a secret St. Louis Brown tryout camp at Springfield yesterday and is one of the few who will return for an all-day session of baseball playing today. The former Jacksonville high school athlete pitched two innings yesterday, struck out four and retired the side without a run being scored.

Walt Tamblin of New Berlin and Glenn Willard of Griggsville are two Brown sub-scouts helping out with the two-day camp. Boys were selected in advance and invited to attend. There was no advance publicity.

Ron Kemp, another outstanding Jacksonville high school athlete, has positively decided to attend Western State college at Macomb next fall. Western is JHS athletic director Bob Kraushaar's alma mater.

Ron Campbell is another Crimmon who's flitting (or vice-versa) with Western. Williams is torn between attending college next fall and trying out for varsity athletics and signing a professional baseball contract, thereby cutting off his intercollegiate career.

Kenny Wright, another Crimmon baseballer, isn't even thinking about this problem. Kenny, a pitcher and infielder, is enrolled in the Washington Senator school which starts at Springfield on June 15. He'll sign in a minute if offered a contract. That's how much this kid loves the game.

Invitations are being mailed to softball teams in this area to compete in the fifth annual West Central softball tournament to be conducted at Nichols Park Sunday to Sunday, June 22-29. The first 16 teams who accept invites to the tourney will be accepted. So managers, let's hear from you!

The 38-year-old champ, oldest ever to wear the crown, stoutly defends as his correct age the announced 38. He was annoyed that it should be questioned.

Informing that Charles' camp complained about the work of Referee Zach Clayton, Walcott spoke up sharply.

"Are they squawking about the eight low punches he hit me?" he asked. "How about the times he stuck his thumbs in my face? They should be applauding the referee. All he did was warn, warn, warn. Never took away a round for all those low blows."

"So he says that cut in his eye came from a butt? Sure it was a butt with my left hand. I'm not saying he (Charles) is a bad guy. He just does some bad things."

Walcott thought he won nine or 10 rounds. Bocchicchio scored it 8-7. He was not concerned about the wide variance of ringside votes. A slim majority of newsmen had Charles out front, despite three official votes for the champ.

Charles, preparing to return to Cincinnati tonight, planned a new campaign to take him to the top. He probably will be sidelined a month with his eye cuts.

"I'm ready to take them all," said Charles. "Marciano, Matthews, Coley Wallace, Roland La Starza. Anybody that thinks they stand in the way of me getting back to the top."

"We have an exclusive contract agreement with the IBC," said Bocchicchio. "It ran for five years starting in 1949, when we fought Charles at Chicago, has two years to go. They have the right to ask you to defend twice and guarantee you $5,000 a year as an equity."

British Women Claim Two Wins Over Yanks In Curtis Cup Golf

Muirfield, Scotland, June 6.—(P)—The British Curtis Cup golf team, playing with a chilling determination that matched Scotland's weather, took two out of three foursomes matches today from America's best women golfers.

Thus Britain, which never has won the Curtis Cup in 20 years of competition, got off to a surprisingly strong start. The younger but more experienced Americans now must win at least four of tomorrow's six singles matches to keep the trophy from leaving their possession for the first time.

In six previous matches since 1932, the Americans never have been beaten. Britain's best was a tie in 1936.

Realization of that fact accounted for the thin-lipped, determined way in which the British women went about their task today on the wind-swept, 6,400 yard course along the Fifth of Fourth.

The Americans, huddled in layers of sweaters and wearing slacks as protection against the chill winds on the treeless Muirfield course, knew after the first few holes that they were up against stern competition.

The outcome of the foursomes, in which two players hit the ball alternately, proved that early threat was right. The one American victory was conclusive as slim Claire Doran of Cleveland, and husky Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., swamped Frances Stephens of England and Mrs. George Valentine of Scotland, 6 and 4. But the teams that had appeared more likely to win couldn't do it.

The American champion, Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, couldn't do anything right as she and

CHICAGO GRAINS MOVE WITHIN TIGHT RANGE

Chicago, June 6—(P)—Most grains moved within a narrow range on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were less active than in earlier sessions this week.

Soybeans and rye showed flashes of strength. All rye contracts made new seasonal highs. This cereal has been very strong in the past three days with buying stimulated by reports of damage to the small crop in the northwest.

Old crop soybeans gained around 3 cents at one time, but they had difficulty in maintaining this advantage.

Preliminary estimated receipts of grain in carlots: Wheat 2, corn 133, oats 7, rye none, barley 12 and soybeans 16.

Wheat closed 1 lower to 1 higher, July $2.33, corn 1 lower to 1 higher, July $1.81-1.82, oats unchanged to 1 higher, July 76-78, rye 1 to 1 higher, July $2.09-1, soybeans 1 cent lower to 1 cent higher, July $3.22-3.24, and lard 18 to 28 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.22.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, June 6—(P)—Livestock traders cleaned out the yards for the week end today, but sellers of hogs had to sacrifice 10 to 50 cents a hundred pounds to make it in their section. Cattle were steady to week and sheep nominally steady.

Supplies were a depressing factor in the hog market. There was an unsold backlog of 1,000 from Thursday and fresh arrivals of 9,000 were an additional 1,000 higher than the trade had counted on. Added to this was the fact that an estimated 59,000 hogs came into the sales pens this week, largest numbers in 11 weeks.

In spite of this, prices were down only about 25 to 50 cents from last week's closing quotations. Barrows and gilts brought $19.50 to $21.50 with a top at $21.75 but paid for less than a carcass. Sows were mostly $16.50 to $18.75.

Little of beef value could be found in the cattle run. Good and choice steers, yearlings, and heifers fell into a narrow range from $30.00 to $33.50. Cows topped at $25.00, bulls at $27.75, and vealers at $37.00. The latter kind was weak to mostly $1.00 lower.

Good to choice spring lambs made $28.00 to $30.00 but only a few were on hand. Prime kinds were quoted to $31.00 and prime fed lambs to $28.50. Ewes sold from $10.50 downward.

Salable supplies included 600 cattle, 300 calves, and 200 sheep.

Alias Basil Willing
By Helen McCloy
Helen McCloy
BASIL WILLING continued his story as his wife Gisela listened intently. "The moment Dr. Zimmer knew Katherine Shaw suspected him and had employed Detective Jack Duggan to investigate him, it became necessary to kill him before either could confide in me—a member of the District Attorney's staff."

"Zimmer had long realized that an emergency like this might arise when an unpremeditated killing would be necessary because someone was suddenly suspicious. So he had Otto watch for a pre-arranged signal which meant: 'Offer a poisoned glass to the person I am talking to now and forget other plans.'"

"But there was no act or gesture Zimmer performed each time he was talking to one of his victims," protested Gisela. "He never did the same thing twice!"

Again Basil smiled. "It's a very simple signal that I should have spotted sooner—an old conjuror's trick often used in fake mind-reading acts. And it's based on the mind's failure to think abstractly in everyday life. Zimmer picked up Miss Shaw's walking stick by its ivory handle, then shifted his grip to its ebony shaft, as he presented the handle to Miss Shaw and spoke to her. Zimmer straightened his gardenia and adjusted his lapel when he spoke to Duggan. Zimmer laid his hand on the white marble mantelpiece and picked up the poker when he spoke to Stephen Lawrence. Zimmer played on the piano, D and D, when he spoke to Isolida Canning."

"If you abstract the idea of color from all these particular things, you realize that he did the same thing four times—he touched something white and then something black while he was talking to a person who died or nearly died afterward."

"THE older I get, the more amazed I am at the way nature imitates the fantasies of fiction," went on Basil. "There's an old story of Dickens . . ."

"I know," Gisela interrupted. "After you left me this afternoon, I read Mrs. Lirriper's Legacy, too."

"To give dinners was a part of Dr. Bertrand's business. In certain circles those dinners were highly celebrated, but they were always talked about under the rose. It was whispered that their splendor was fabulous, that the dishes and the wines reached a point of perfection absolutely unknown elsewhere and was said moreover that Dr. Bertrand was a mighty and experienced chemist and that it was an understood thing that Dr. Bertrand's guests had no desire to survive the night which succeeded the acceptance of his graceful hospitality."

"Dr. Zimmer was more ambitious than his fictional predecessor. Dr. Bertrand sold suicide. Dr. Zimmer went a step farther and speculated in murder," Basil added.

"When I realized that two of the three victims in this case—Katherine Shaw and Stephen Lawrence—both suffered from painful, incurable diseases, I thought of mercy-killing as a possible motive. It was the only motive that fitted Perdita's character. She had said: 'I couldn't give him poison myself. Was Perdita allowing someone else to do her mercy-killing for her? And was Miss Shaw poisoned by the same person for a similar reason?'

"Zimmer happens to be a German doctor, possibly more sympathetic to the Nazis than he ever admitted and had seen the extermination camps where the various Nazis carried out the ancient, eugenic fallacy of slaughtering the unwanted on a mass-production scale. This doctor has had to start all over again in a foreign city and so needs a short-cut to fortune."

"He decides to sell extermination at a high price to anyone who wanted to get rid of anyone else for whatever reason—the aged rich, whose heirs are growing impatient, like Katherine Shaw; husbands and wives who are incomm-patible and can't agree on divorce, like the Cannings and the Yorkes. Our doctor would confine his victims to people who are already taking some potential poison in medicinal doses. The aged and the invalid are certain to use sedatives. The unhappily married, living in a state of nervous tension, will be insomniacs with access to sleeping tablets or alcoholics taking drugs for hangovers. He poisons each victim with the victim's own drug."

"How did he find enough customers without giving his secret away?" asked Gisela.

"As a practicing psychiatrist he must have had access to the inmost secrets in the minds of many patients. Secret desire for another person's death is a commonplace of psychiatry. But, unlike the true healer, he would not try to cauterize homicidal impulses in his patients. He could deliberately cultivate those impulses and teach the patient to rationalize them. Then, when the patient's mind was ripe for suggestion, Zimmer would explain how murder could be done—at a price."

"At this point, I began to wonder if the actual poisoning took place at Zimmer's weekly dinners for his patients and their families. Half the guests had strong motives for wishing someone else dead. The other half were all potential victims except Charlotte Dean—the one innocent bystander who was only there because the blind Miss Shaw needed her attendant. When Charlotte Dean gave her account of the first dinner after Duggan's death, she told us a curious thing. Two of the guests started to say something and then broke off confused and stammering in the middle of a sentence—Rosamund Yorke and Hubert Canning. Each of those broke sentences Miss Dean reported was a remark about the future concerning a pair I had already thought of as potential murderer and potential victim. Of course I had no idea then that Isolida anticipated Canning's death—that that of the Cannings employed Zimmer to kill the other without either suspecting."

Wild West Contingent Shows In City Today

Congregational Program To Mark Children's Day

Hundreds of Jacksonville youngsters and a group of patients from the Jacksonville State Hospital will be included in the audience attending the 2:30 p.m. performance of Tiger Bill's Real Wild West show at the V.F.W. grounds this afternoon. The cowboy contingent will also give a full performance tonight at 8 o'clock.

Trucks and trailers carrying equipment, animals, and personnel for the show arrived in Jacksonville Friday afternoon. Work of erecting tents was begun immediately on the large lot behind the V.F.W. clubhouse, just east of the city limits on route 36.

Local business and professional men have purchased a large block of tickets which will enable numerous children to see the afternoon performance. Arrangements have been made for transportation of the youngsters to the show grounds. Buses and automobiles will leave from behind the post office at 1:30 p.m.

Tiger Bill represents the fourth generation of the famous cowboy family which has been presenting wild west performances for many years. He emphasized last night that the show will be a real wild west show, not a rodeo.

Featured attractions include Oklahoma Shorty and his famous movie horse, "Smookey," and Tex Cooper and the Blue Bonnet Playboys.

The cowboys and cowgirls will present trick riding, roping, and shooting, in addition to horse catches, high school horses, high jumping horses, and Roman chariot races. Several western scenes are also included on the program.

A covered wagon will be located at the corner of North Main and Second streets and the public square for the sale of tickets.

The attraction is being presented in Jacksonville under sponsorship of V.F.W. Post 1379.

The unit moves from Jacksonville to Beardstown, where two performances are scheduled Monday.

Naturalist Says Dove In Danger Of Extinction

"The mourning dove will go the way of the passenger pigeon unless proper conservation measures are taken soon," T. E. Musselman of Quincy warned in an address to members of the Jacksonville Rotary club Friday noon. Mr. Musselman is one of the best known naturalists in the Central West, and has made a hobby of ornithology.

The speaker reviewed the decline and extinction of the wild pigeon and drew a parallel of the situation as related to the dove. He estimated that the dove population in Illinois was reduced 50 per cent last year, largely due to hunters.

Mr. Musselman urged that hunters use sportsmanship and that they not violate the state game laws that are set up to preserve game for future generations. "The naturalist was more optimistic toward the future of the wild duck, explaining that the work of a group called 'Ducks Unlimited,' in restoring breeding grounds in Canada, has greatly improved the future of the mallard, pintail, and other ducks hunted in this area.

Handicraft studies will be a big part of the program again this year. During the first week the children will work with looper-clips, made from stocking tops and stretched on a frame. They can be woven into moccasins, little hats, hot pads, purses.

Novelty pins and articles from scrap wood will be among the products made during later weeks. Each week a new craft will be featured.

The first summer playground operated here by the Y.M.C.A. was on the old academy lot, six years ago, before construction was begun on the Jacksonville high school gymnasium there. The program spread to the grade school yards. For the past two vacation seasons, through the cooperation of the local board of education, the present three playgrounds have been utilized.

The board allows the Y. to use the playgrounds and restroom facilities in the school buildings, and to store equipment there.

The whole program is made possible by the Community Chest, which finances all Y. activities.

General supervisor of the three playgrounds is Mrs. Charlene Holte Hobbie, a local young woman, graduate of MacMurray College and physical education instructor for the past two years at Waverly. She will spend a day at each school in turn.

Director of the activities in the Jefferson schoolyard will be Joan Mansfield of Murrayville, a MacMurray graduate who majored in physical education. Assisting her will be Mildred Freitag, a Jacksonville high school student.

At Franklin school Joanne Beasley of this city will be in charge. She majored in kindergarten and primary work before graduating from MacMurray, and is going to teach school at Lafayette this fall. Last year she was also playground director at Franklin.

Her assistant will be Jane Wilson of Jacksonville, who completed her freshman year at MacMurray this spring.

On the Washington school grounds the director will be Marjorie Murphy of this city, a graduate of Illinois College who attended McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago this year. Her chosen field is religious education.

Mary Ellen Goodey, eighth grade graduate of David Prince junior high school, will assist her.

Y. Workers To Open Playgrounds Monday At Three Schools Here

Starting Monday the Y.M.C.A. operated playgrounds at three local schools will be open for eight weeks. Supervised play, different kinds of games, craft lessons, doll buggy parades and pet shows are in store for the children who come to the schoolyards of Franklin, Jefferson or Washington.

Each week, Monday through Friday until Aug. 1, the playground directors will be on hand from 1-5 p.m. and from 6 p.m. until dusk. The time the city street lights are turned on is reckoned as dusk. Children leaving then will have time to get home before dark.

The Y. playground project is designed especially for children from the age of six to 15. Tots under six are welcome if someone older accompanies them. Parents and friends may always visit the playgrounds.

Parents are urged to take advantage of the summer program by sending their youngsters to one of the schoolyards, safe and well supervised, providing special events to keep childhood's interests awake during vacation days.

The board allows the Y. to use the playgrounds and restroom facilities in the school buildings, and to store equipment there.

The whole program is made possible by the Community Chest, which finances all Y. activities.

General supervisor of the three playgrounds is Mrs. Charlene Holte Hobbie, a local young woman, graduate of MacMurray College and physical education instructor for the past two years at Waverly. She will spend a day at each school in turn.

Director of the activities in the Jefferson schoolyard will be Joan Mansfield of Murrayville, a MacMurray graduate who majored in physical education. Assisting her will be Mildred Freitag, a Jacksonville high school student.

At Franklin school Joanne Beasley of this city will be in charge. She majored in kindergarten and primary work before graduating from MacMurray, and is going to teach school at Lafayette this fall. Last year she was also playground director at Franklin.

Her assistant will be Jane Wilson of Jacksonville, who completed her freshman year at MacMurray this spring.

On the Washington school grounds the director will be Marjorie Murphy of this city, a graduate of Illinois College who attended McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago this year. Her chosen field is religious education.

Mary Ellen Goodey, eighth grade graduate of David Prince junior high school, will assist her.

A party held for 55 veterans at the Jacksonville State Hospital Friday afternoon was the tenth in the current series being conducted by the local War Dads Auxiliary, but it was the first ever held for bed-patients in a hospital ward.

Four Gold Star mothers from the Auxiliary served eight angel food cakes iced in pink, ice cream bars and orange juice to the veterans. Instead of providing the usual program of entertainment, the women helped feed the patients and visited with them.

Fifty of the men were bed patients. Five were ward workers.

"The hospital employees in ward No. 4 gave us the greatest cooperation in helping to make the party a success," Mrs. Leigh declared. The employees are Miss Ann Howard, Mrs. Frances Barger, Leo Brown, Howard Leffler and H. M. Gregory.

Two members of the Auxiliary who have often contributed their assistance in party giving were absent. Mrs. Mae Wolfe, co-chairman of the hospital committee, is vacationing with her husband, William, in the east. Twenty-two Jacksonville boys will set out Sunday afternoon for Camp Piasa, which stands in a wilderness setting at Pere Marquette state park. The camp is owned by the state and operated by the Alton Y.M.C.A. They will spend a week there.

Little villages of four or five cabins, built of logs and screened, house the youth who attend summer sessions there. Each unit has its own lodge, fireplace, screened-in porch and water facilities. At mealtime all meet at a central dining hall.

Swimming in an outdoor pool, hiking on natural trails, nature study and other outdoor activities are featured. Handicrafts are taught. The food is prepared by a cook from Western Military Academy.

A unit leader and counselors are on hand to help the young people in each village.

Kiwanis Assisting
The local Kiwanis club is assisting the Y. in the project and will help furnish transportation.

Nine of the boys have earned the money to pay all their expenses by selling soap. Four others have partly financed the trip in this way.

Two Y. clubs, one complete and the other minus only one member, are enrolled among the campers. All the Ki-Y East Siders are going. They are Donald Hickey, James Barfield, Bobby Dobson, Billy Dugger, Terry Dennis and Joe Dennis.

The Ki-Y Apaches making the trip will be Don Hennessey, Jim Hennessey, Bill Colclasure, Jim Lawson, Jack Kuhlman and Charles Black. Jim Dyer, the other Apache, has appendicitis and won't be able to go.

Leader Will Go Along
Paul Thursby, ministerial student who is a senior at Illinois College and leader of the East Siders, is going to camp with them as their unit leader. Dick Gundy of Chicago, leader of the Apaches, must stay behind at Illinois College to take examinations. He is active in Chicago Y. work and will spend the summer at the Wilson Avenue Y.M.C.A. camp.

The other boys who will go on the trip are Richard Fitzsimmons, Raymond Robbins, Michael Biggs, Tom Wright, Charles Cole, John Teaters, Jack Kuhlman, Richard Hinds, David Byus, Donald Moody and Ronald Carlson.

Half as many boys went to Y. camp last summer.

In addition to this group, three other boys are going to Camp Piasa June 22. George Hoagland is planning a two week stay there. Corky Morris and Gilbert Mulch will be there a week.

There's still room at the camp if other boys want to go.
